SAYS COUGHLIN BABY IS DEAD

August Pasquale Tells Police He Carried Child Down Ladder Under Cover of Coat and When He Looked At It Found It Smothered To Death—Tells Where To Find Body.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 11.—The mystery of the kidnapping of Blake Coughlin, the 15 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Coughlin, from their home in Norristown, has been cleared by the confession of August Pasquale to Major Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of state police, that he stole the child and smothered him under his coat.

Pasquale was arrested in a sensational manner in New Jersey some time ago. He told where the body of the child was hidden and officers of the state police are now searching for it in the vicinity of Egg Harbor, N. J.

Pasquale sent for Major Adams yesterday and in the jail at Norristown, told how he had entered the Coughlin home, took the baby from its cot, and when descending the ladder thrust the child under his coat when he heard a noise in the house. Some time later, when he smothered his coat, Pasquale says, he found the baby dead.

Following the kidnapping the Coughlin family received letters demanding a ransom of $12,000 for the return of their child. The letters were signed "the crank." Coughlin placed the money near a trolley station at Norristown late at night and the bag disappeared.

United States postal authorities, private detectives and the state police worked on the case and further letters were exchanged between the Coughlin family and "the crank." Finally $15,000 more was demanded and "the crank" demanded that the money should be thrown off of an express train between Philadelphia and Atlantic City, at a spot where a white flag was flying.

Major Adams placed state police along the tracks of the railway, having every quarter of a mile covered and when the white flag was shown two officers who were in the neighborhood pounced upon the man who picked up the bag thrown from the train. The man proved to be August Pasquale, who later admitted evidence that he was the writer of "the crank" letters. Pasquale has steadily denied that he had any hand in the actual kidnapping. Until his confession, he always has maintained that the Coughlin child was alive.

MAC SWINEY HAS GOOD NIGHT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Oct. 11.—Terence Mac Swiney, the hunger striking lord mayor of Cork, entered the sixtieth day of his fast today after a fairly good night in the infirmary of Brixton jail.

Many prominent British newspapers profess to see no end towards a settlement of the Irish question in the sensational speech delivered by Premier Lloyd George at Carnarvon, Wales on Sunday.

"The speech does nothing to help Irish peace," declared Lord Northcliffe's Daily Mail.

"The speech suggests nothing to redeem the government's failure to govern Ireland," was the comment of the Daily Graphic.

"It was not so much the despairing impotence as blind folly," said the Daily News.

"Lloyd George will have the backing of all sane citizens and the speech will create a good impression," declared the Daily Express.

"Ireland already has voted for an independent status," declared Arthur Griffith, acting president of the Irish Republic, according to a Central News dispatch from Dublin, quoting the Sinn Fein leader.

"The reply of the British government was false, arrest and imprisonment and armed assaults, shootings and murders by the English," Griffith was quoted further as saying that England could have had real peace with Ireland if she wanted it.

No Bids For Road.

The state highway department is experiencing considerable difficulty in securing bids for a concrete road from Rhinebeck to Rhinecliff. This has led the engineers of the department to revise the estimates on the work, increasing the cost from $20,000. Of this the town is asked to pay $2,700, and the village $500. This money must be provided before bids can be received.

WHITE HOUSE GIVES OUT TEXT OF STATEMENT QUOTED BY SPENCER

Carlson, Official Stenographer, Sends Tammy His Record Showing That President Said Serbia, Roumania, Etc., Expected U. S. to Use Force in Backing Up Covenant; Therefore, Settlements Must Be Correct—Armies and Navies of Great Powers Final Guarantee of World's Peace.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Oct. 11.—As refutation of the charge by Senator Spencer, Republican of Missouri, that President Wilson promised Roumania and Serbia American military aid in men and ships during his participation in the peace conference a transcript of a stenographic report of the president's utterances at a secret plenary session of the conference, May 31, 1919, was made public today at the White House.

The president was quoted as having stated at this session: "How can a power like the United States for example—for I can speak for no other, after signing this treaty, if it contains elements which they do not believe permanent, go three thousand miles across the sea and report to its people that it has made a settlement of the peace of the world? It cannot do so and there underlies all of these transactions the expectation on the part, for example, of Roumania, and of Czech-Slovakia and of Serbia, that any covenant of this settlement will send their armies and navies to see that they are observed."

The president was also quoted as having stated: "We must not close our eyes to the fact that in the last analysis the military and naval strength of the great powers will be the final guarantee of the peace of the world." Other language attributed to the president was as follows: "We are trying to make a peaceful settlement, that is to say, to eliminate those elements of disturbance, as far as possible, which may interfere with the peace of the world and we are trying to make an equitable distribution of territories according to the race, the ethnographical character of the people inhabiting those territories."

"And back of that lies this fundamentally important fact that the allied and associated powers guarantee to maintain them. It is perfectly evident upon a moment's reflection, that the chief burden of their maintenance will fall upon the greater powers. The chief burden of the war fell upon the greater powers and if it had not been for their action, their military action, we would not be here to settle these questions."

The stenographic report quoted was contained in a letter addressed by its author, F. A. Carlson, 1101 Ashland Block, Chicago, to Charles M. Schenck, now stenographer to the president, which was attached to a preliminary statement issued by Joseph P. Tumulty, the president's secretary.

In his statement, Mr. Tumulty said: "With reference to the telegram of Senator Spencer to the president, dated October 5, 1920, in which it is alleged that at the eighth plenary session of the peace conference, the president said to Premier Brattiano of Roumania, you must not forget that it is force which is the final guaranty of the peace of the world, the United States will send to this side of the ocean their army and their fleet." The statement was made upon the floor of the senate on February 20, 1920, by Senator Reed and so far as I have learned has never been denied until now. It is widely circulated over the United States. If you did not make that statement to Premier Brattiano I would be very much indebted if you will inform me."

"The eighth plenary session was a secret session and my impression is that you were not there. I may be wrong about that. However, I reported the proceedings and wrote up the statement which President Wilson made. The report of the proceedings was mimeographed, and I suppose there are copies in Washington."

"I have just gone over my notes (my shorthand notes) and I can find no such statement as is alleged in the St. Louis dispatch which I quoted and it is there in alleged was made upon the floor of the senate on February 20, 1920, by Senator Reed. Therefore I will quote in full the president's statement in the secret plenary session of May 31, 1919. Will you please call it to the attention of some responsible person in Washington, of you find that there is not a copy of the transcription of the English shorthand notes. It is just barely possible that the quotations of Senator Reed and Spencer was from a translation into English of M. Mantoux's translation into French of the president's remarks, and as you know, the translations some times mixed things up a bit."

"Following is a transcript of my shorthand notes of President Wilson's statement at the eighth plenary session (secret) of the peace conference, held at the Quai d'Orsay, Saturday, May 31, 1919:

"Mr. President, I should be very sorry to see this meeting adjourn with prominent impressions such as it is possible have been created by some of the remarks that our friends have made. I should be very sorry to have the impression lodged in your minds that the great powers desire to assume or play any arbitrary role in these great matters, or assume, because of any pride of authority, to exercise an undue influence in these matters, and therefore I want to call your attention to one aspect of these questions which has not been dwelt upon."

"We are trying to make a peaceful settlement, that is to say, to eliminate those elements of disturbance, as far as possible, which may interfere with the peace of the world, and we are trying to make an equitable distribution of territories, according to the race, the ethnographical character of the people inhabiting those territories."

"And back of that lies this fundamentally important fact that the allied and associated powers guarantee to maintain them. It is perfectly evident upon a moment's reflection, that the chief burden of their maintenance will fall upon the greater powers. The chief burden of the war fell upon the greater powers and if it had not been for their action, their military action, we would not be here to settle these questions."

"And back of that lies this fundamentally important fact that when the decisions are made, the allied and associated powers guarantee to maintain them. It is perfectly evident upon a moment's reflection, that the chief burden of their maintenance will fall upon the greater powers. The chief burden of the war fell upon the greater powers and if it had not been for their action, their military action, we would not be here to settle these questions. And therefore, we must not close our eyes to the fact that in the last analysis the military and naval strength of the great powers will be the final guarantee of the peace of the world."

"In these circumstances it is unreasonable and unjust that not as dictators but as friends the great powers would say to their associates: We cannot afford to guarantee territorial settlements which we do not believe to be right and we cannot agree to leave elements of disturbance unmoved which we believe will disturb the peace of the world."

"We take the right of minorities. Nothing, I venture to say, is more likely to disturb the peace of the world than the treatment which might in certain circumstances be meted out to minorities. And therefore if the great powers are to guarantee the peace of the world in any sense, it is not unjust that they should be satisfied with the proper and satisfactory guarantees have been given."

"I beg our friends from Roumania and from Serbia to remember that while Roumania and Serbia are ancient sovereignties the settlements of this conference are greatly adding to their territories. You cannot in one part of our transactions treat Serbia alone and in all of the other parts treat the kingdom of the Serbs, the Croats and the Slovenes as a different entity for they are seeking the recognition of this conference as a single entity and if this conference is going to recognize these various powers as new sovereignties within different territories, the chief guarantors are entitled to be satisfied that the territorial settlements are of a character to be permanent, and that the guarantees given are of a character to insure the peace of the world."

"It is not therefore, the interventions of those who would interfere, but the action of those who would help, I beg that our friends will take that view of it, because I see no escape from that view of it."

"How can a power like the United States for example, for I can speak for no other, after signing this treaty, if it contains elements which they do not believe to be permanent, go three thousand miles away across the sea and report to its people that it has made a settlement of the peace of the world? It cannot do so, and yet there underlies all of the transactions the expectation on the part, for example, of Roumania, and of Czech-Slovakia, and of Serbia, that if any covenant of this settlement are not observed, the United States will send their armies and her navies to see that they are observed."

"In those circumstances, it is unreasonable that the United States should insist upon being satisfied that the settlements are correct? Observe, Mr. Brattiano—and I speak of his suggestions with the utmost respect—suggest that we could not, so to say, invade the sovereignty of Roumania, an ancient sovereignty, and make certain perceptions with regard to the rights of minorities. But I beg of him to observe that he is overlooking the fact that he is asking the sanction of the allied associated powers for great additions of territory which come to Roumania by the common victory of arms, and that, therefore, we are entitled to say: 'If we agree to these additions of territory we have the right to insist upon certain guarantees of peace.'"

"I beg my friend, Mr. Kramer, and my friend, Mr. Trumble, and my friend, Mr. Brattiano, to believe that if we should feel that it is best to leave the words which they have wished to omit, in the treaty, it is not because we want to insist upon unreasonable conditions, but that we want the treaty to accord to us the right of judgment as to whether these are things which we can afford to guarantee."

"Therefore the impressions with which we should dispense ought to be these, that we are all friends—of course that goes without saying—but that we must all be associates in a common effort, and there can be no frank and earnest association in the common effort unless there is a common agreement as to what the rights and settlement are."

"Now if the agreement is a separate agreement among groups of us that does not meet the object. If you should adopt the language suggested by the Czech-Slovakian delegation and the Serbian delegation, the Yugoslav delegation, that it should be left to negotiation between the principal allied and associated powers and their several delegates, that would mean that after this whole conference is adjourned, groups of them would determine what is to be the basis of the peace of the world. It means to me that that would be a most dangerous idea to entertain and therefore, I beg that we may depart with a sense of interdependence with each other, but of hearty and friendly cooperation upon the only possible basis of certainty. Where the great forces there must be the sanction of peace."

"I sometimes wish, in hearing an argument like this, that I were the representative of a small power so that what I said might be reduced to any minimum consideration, but I think you will agree with me that the United States has never shown any form of aggression anywhere, and it lies in the heart of the people of the United States, and I am sure it lies in the hearts of the people of other great powers, to form a

BOTH MEAN SAME, SAYS SPENCER

By Telegram to The Freeman.

GLENNON CAR TAKES JOY RIDE

The next time that John B. Glennon parks his automobile in front of his home at 79 Spring street, he will probably tie it to a hitching post or take other precautionary measures against its running away.

It was about 4:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon when Mr. Glennon with his family returned from a ride. Mr. Glennon's son who was driving claims that he not only shut off the engine but also pulled on the emergency brake. Mr. Glennon's brother who was in the party, waited in the car to accompany his nephew to their garage. While there, the car started to roll down the street. He jumped out to roll in the house to call his nephew. The car continued down the street and there striking a pitch in the roadway, shot across the street, over the sidewalk and down the bank where at one time the Hoffman Brewing Company had an ice slide.

The whole thing happened so quickly that when young Glennon came out of the house, the car had already reached the bottom of the hill where the old ice house stood.

Much to his delight, he discovered that no damage had been done to the car, not even had a tire blown. The car wheels were hot from the brakes being on. The car was started up and driven through the Hoffman yard out to Home street.

Mr. Glennon is still trying to figure out what started the car, and how it escaped injury in its descent of the rugged embankment.

Spanish Dancers.

There is also a new thing about a group of Spanish dancers. They enjoy it so much themselves. Always gay and laughing and calling out little phrases to each other, clapping their hands and singing their songs. But why, in the name of Edward G. Ross, don't they learn some new steps?—Late.

A British ultimatum to soviet Russia, threatening to sink Russian warships and submarines on sight if they are seen in the vicinity of Nikolai, on the Black Sea, has been handed to Leonid Krassin, the Bolshevik envoy in London, according to dispatches from London. The message, according to Krassin, was from Earl Curzon, British secretary of foreign affairs, and has been forwarded to Warsaw. The note is looked upon in many quarters as a declaration of war.

Life's Preparation for Death.
Life is more important than death. In fact, the work of death can only be safely done in life. The practical truth is that which touches us at once, the most sober and solemn view of life, that every single thing we do is actually making death either harder or easier.—Faber.

ELLENVILLE YOUTHS SENT TO ELMIRA; GUIDA, HOLD-UP, PLEADS GUILTY

Other Two in Testcase Case Plead Not Guilty—Youths Ac- cused of Assault on Escapes Girls Plead Not Guilty— Watkins Murder Case Goes Over.

County court reconvened at the court house at eleven o'clock this morning for the arraignment of defendants against whom sealed indictments were handed up by the grand jury last week, and for the sentence of prisoners who pleaded guilty at that time.

Escapes Assault Cases.

Felicit Mallia was arraigned on a indictment which was found some time ago charging assault in the second degree, committed in the town of Escopus on September 7, 1919, on Edna Cranston. Amos Van Eiten appeared for the defendant and entered a plea of not guilty. Bail, which was given during the past week, was continued.

Richard McGinnis, was arraigned on a charge of assault in the second degree, the charge being the same as against Mallia. Corporation Counsel William D. Brinlier appeared for him and entered a plea of not guilty. Bail which was given last week, was continued.

John J. Hynes was arraigned on a charge of assault in the second degree, committed in the town of Escopus on March 14, 1919, on Margaret Smith. J. J. Hynes appeared for the defendant and entered a plea of not guilty. Bail, which was given last week, was continued.

Glisco Desecration Case.

Francis Cicco was arraigned on a charge of desecrating a child with intent to totally abandon it, in violation of section 481 of the penal law, committed at Glisco on July 31, 1919. William D. Brinlier, Jr., who appeared for her, said she was willing to enter a plea of guilty to a charge of violating subdivision 1 of section 482 of the penal law, which relates to endangering life and limb. The matter was held open for investigation and the bail which was given last week was continued.

School Collector Indicted.

Olivier J. Auchmoody was arraigned on a charge of grand larceny in the first degree, committed in the town of Ulster on July 21, in appropriating to his own use more than $500 school funds of School District No. 8 of the town of Ulster. A second count also charges the same crime, as agent and bailee. Chris J. Flanagan appeared for Auchmoody and entered a plea of not guilty. Bail was fixed at $2,000, which was the amount given by Auchmoody at the time of his arrest last summer. Sanguettes Highwaymen Arraigned.

Howard Horton and Thomas Junior were arraigned on a charge of robbery in the first degree, committed in the town of Saugerties on July 11, in robbing Sheldon Testsell. This is the case in which Testsell a chauffeur, was held up and after being robbed was compelled to run his automobile through the village of Saugerties and to this city, where Testsell, on seeing Policeman Post, jumped from the car and called for help. Horton, Junior and Albert Guida, who was the third member of the party, were arrested later the same evening at Rhinecliff.

Corporation Counsel William D. Brinlier, who appeared for Horton and Junior, entered a plea of not guilty and asked that their bail bond, with the National Surety Company as surety, be continued. Under the rule, however, it is necessary to give a new bond under indictment and both defendants seemed disappointed on learning that the representative of the surety company was not present. Both were dressed in the fall styles and looked well cared for. They have been out on bail for some time. Mr. Brinlier asked that they be not locked up pending the arrival of the surety company's representative, but simply remain in the custody of the sheriff.

Guida Pleads Guilty.

Albert Guida, who was indicted jointly with Horton and Junior, told Mr. Brinlier that he withdrew his former plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty.

While Mr. Brinlier was making the announcement of Guida's change of plea, the latter misunderstood what he was saying for he walked over to Mr. Brinlier and announced: "Now, listen, I just told you I pleaded guilty."

Mr. Brinlier reassured him that what he was saying.

"Oh, that's all right then," said Guida.

Ellenville Murder Case.

Mrs. Mary A. Austin of Ellenville was arraigned on a charge of sending threatening letters with intent to extort money. In the town of Wawarsing, in violation of section 336 of the penal law. She was represented by John E. DeVany, who entered a plea of not guilty. He said she had been arraigned before a magistrate last May but had been released without bail. She was a widow with two children, lived in Ellenville and there was no doubt about her coming to court whenever required. He therefore asked that she be released in his custody, which was approved by District Attorney Traver. Judge Fowler fixed bail at $100.

The Kingston Abduction Case.

James Saunders of East Kingston was arraigned on a charge of abduction, committed on September 20, in the town of Ulster, on complaint of Margaret Richard. Saunders pleaded not guilty, and he had no attorney and so he was with which to comply. Judge Fowler said he would assign counsel later.

Ellenville Rape Suspected.

District Attorney Traver moved yesterday in the case of the People against Arthur E. Bell and Charles Henry Bell, both of whom pleaded guilty last week to three indictments each for kidnapping in the third

SUPREME COURT DENIES REHEARING ON PROHIBITION

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Oct. 11.—The supreme court today denied a motion and petition for a rehearing in the prohibition case.

These suits were decided last June, the court holding the prohibition amendment under the Venable act constitutional.

Appeals for rehearing were brought in the interest of Feigenbaum, the New Jersey brewer, by Root and Guthrie, his counsel, and on behalf of Desany, a Boston dealer. These the court denied today.

MORE CHARITY BALL PATRONS

Tickets for the ball which is to be given at the armory on Friday, October 15, may be purchased at Burgovin's and the Connelly Drug store for one dollar each. Since then others have voluntarily sent in their names. Patrons who have received their tickets will please send check to the person from whom their tickets came.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 11.—With the exception of Atlantic Gulf and West Indies which made a gain of 1 1/4 to 1 3/4, the stock market was established at a lower level in the early dealings today. Losses during the first fifteen minutes ranging from fractions to over 1 point. Texas and Pacific was again offered in large blocks and was forced down to 17 1/4, compared with an opening of 20 1/4. Special interest was attached to the sugar group because of the trouble in Havana which necessitated the dictation of a moratorium by the Cuban treasury, which may be taken advantage of by any bank in the republic. Cuban Cane Sugar was influenced by this action and dropped 1 1/2 to 33 1/4. Punta Alagra was down 1 point to 68. Other stocks moved within narrow limits. Steel Common selling off 1/2 to 3/4, but turned firm after the decline. Baldwin opened off 1/2 to 110 1/4. Mexican Petroleum opened up 1/4 at 188 and then dropped to 187 1/2. Reading declined 1/4 to 96 1/2.

There was a pronounced change to the market tone, after early losses when many stocks became active and strong. The sugar stocks were in supply. Cuba cane sugar falling a point to 32. The railway issues moved up about 1 point from the low figures. Texas Pacific touched a new low on the decline, of 17, and then rose to above 18.

VARIOUS KNOCKS OF AUTO ENGINE

One of Most Delicate Problems
Amateur Motorist Has to Deal With.

LISTENING DEVICES ASSIST

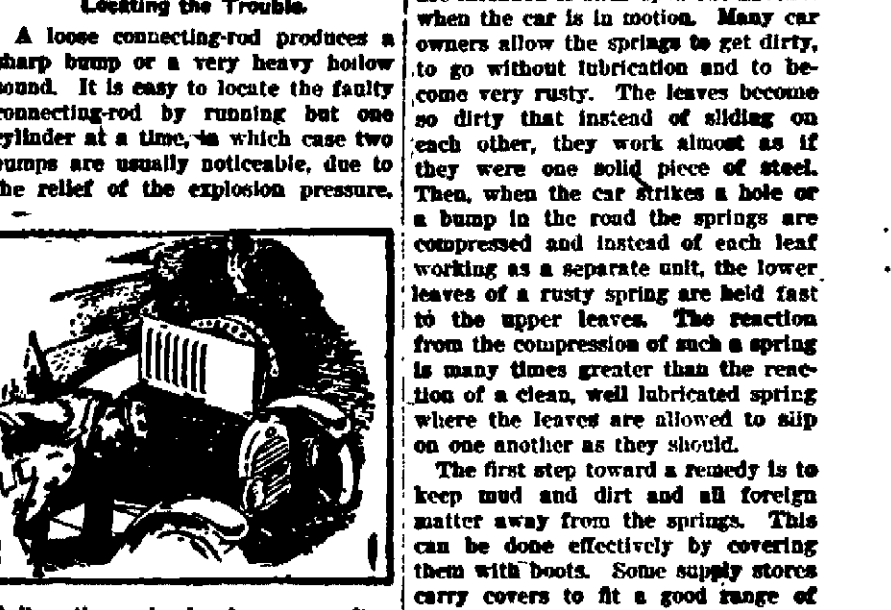

Each Faulty Motor Part Has Different Sound, Which Comes in Regular Periods—Experience Obtained by Practice.

One of the most delicate problems the amateur motorist has to deal with is that of distinguishing between and locating various engine knocks. While there are numerous "listening" devices on the market, experience is, as usual, the best teacher, and will enable you to repair it before it develops into serious trouble. A few of the mysterious knocks are described below.

The more experience one has in listening to knocks, the more expert will one become in finding them and telling what is loose. Each faulty motor part has a different knock, which comes always in regular periods relatively to the speed of the engine.

Locating the Trouble.

A loose connecting-rod produces a sharp bump or a very heavy hollow sound. It is easy to locate the faulty connecting-rod by running but one cylinder at a time, in which case two bumps are usually noticeable, due to the relief of the explosion pressure.

Full up the engine hood every so often and listen carefully. A little practice will enable you to detect trouble.

If the rod is very loose the knocks can be located by turning the engine with the crank. This trouble is caused by a twisted rod, loose bearing, scored bearing, burned-out bearing, or side play. With a seized or burned-out bearing the motor will growl or stick in starting.

The main-bearing knocks are readily located by running two cylinders at a time, one on each side of the crank bearing. A hard bump will be noticeable throughout the motor, produced regularly with the firing of the two cylinders. Such knocks are caused by end play in the shaft, loosely fitting bearings, or a scored or burned-out bearing. In the latter two instances the motor will growl upon starting.

A loose piston-pin is distinguished by a sharp metallic knock. It can be located by using the listening rod for each cylinder and speeding up the motor, then closing the throttle suddenly. By doing so a double knock will be noticeable, which is very sharp and better turned a rap. The knocks are caused by a cracked or broken pin or by a tight or badly worn member.

A loose flywheel will produce a very heavy knock at low engine speed, and will appear regularly. The knock will change to a more ordinary when the motor is speeded up, and the vibration of the shaft will produce a dull, clack.

Before the water has been drained from the cooling system it is well to fill the radiator slowly in order that the water may pass into the whole system.

Regular cleaning of the clutch is dangerous practice. It increases the wear on it and when it is needed badly to pull the car out of a tight place this entirely.

Use FREEMAN advertising regularly and conservatively and results will surely follow.

Dressing Up a Room With Here-and-Theres

NOTHING so enhances a room as the light touches of ornament or decoration, exemplified in those odd, occasional pieces which we have christened Here-and-Theres.

The selection of such pieces at Sloane's is a series of progressive surprises. And instead of being assembled in a confusion of variety, they have been incorporated into decorative units by our own designers, so that you may see how certain pieces fit into varying schemes of arrangement. And if none of them appeal to you, we will improvise others while you wait.

Detectives who are investigating an attempt on the life of Mrs. Anita Baldwin, daughter of the late "Lucky" Baldwin, millionaire miner and horseman, are devoting their attention to recently discharged Japanese servants. This turn to the inquiry is due to the peculiarly Oriental feature of the effort to kill the heiress, the bamboo method, a favorite of the Japanese, and some virulent poison, as yet undetermined, being used. The investigation may end in international complications.

Some One He Knew

Little, two-and-a-half-year-old find accompanied his parents for the first time to a movie. He seemed very interested, especially when a horse or a "heel" was flashed on the screen, but a cry of delight came when a colored man appeared. "Never, dere's out ice man," he said. He was glad to see a face he thought he knew.

SOCIETY NOTES

Engagement Announced

The engagement in marriage of John A. Lannan, superintendent of the Kingston Shipbuilding Company, and Miss Catherine McDonnell of 68 Prince street, is announced.

Birthday Surprise

Mrs. Frank Buntin of 38 Howland avenue was given a surprise party last week, the occasion being her birthday. A number of friends attended and Mrs. Buntin was the recipient of many handsome gifts. A very pleasant evening was spent and at midnight a buffet luncheon was served after which the guests departed wishing Mrs. Buntin many more happy birthdays.

Surprise Shower

On Friday night at the home of Miss Ruth Smith of Clinton avenue Miss Lena Esther Dick, whose engagement to William G. Newkirk was recently announced, was tendered a surprise shower by many of her friends. Miss Dick, who is very popular as was attested by the more than a score who were present, was the recipient of hearty congratulations and good wishes from all, as well as a variety of many substantial tokens of esteem, such as should be found in all well regulated households. A very enjoyable social evening was spent, during which refreshments were served. The event will long be remembered with pleasure by all concerned.

Birthday Party

On Saturday afternoon, October 9, little Miss Gladys Smith was given a real surprise at her home, 45 St. James street, in honor of her third birthday. The little folks played games until 5 o'clock, when all marched into the dining room which was prettily decorated in pink and white. In the center of the table a large birthday cake with three pink candles was lighted by little Gladys. A delicious luncheon of sandwiches, cocoa, cake, fruit and cream was served. After luncheon the little folks left for their homes, wishing Gladys many more happy birthdays. Those present were Ruth Dressel, Betty Dressel, Sarah Plough, Betty Burgher, Walter Burger, Hazel Cameron, Margaret Van Steenburgh, Walter Van Steenburgh, Kenneth Osterlander.

Birthday Party

A large number of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brown, 62 South Manor avenue, in honor of their little daughter, Rita's fourth birthday, Friday evening, October 9th. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Genske, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Sleight and daughter, Virginia, and son, Earl, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Merrill and sons, William and Harry, Mr. and Mrs. William Brown and daughters, Elizabeth and Doris, and son, William, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown and son, Robert, Jr., Mrs. Mary Flick, John Eschbaugh of Hornell, N. Y. Miss Rita received many useful gifts and during the evening she entertained her guests with a toe dance. Games and cards were played, refreshments served and the guests departed at a late hour declaring Miss Rita a royal entertainer.

Probably the youngest and most ardent rooter attending the Brooklyn-Cleveland world's series games is six-year-old Madeline O'Neill, daughter of Steve O'Neill, Cleveland's premier catcher. Little Miss O'Neill whoops it up for her daddy's team every time an opportunity presents itself and she knows the game.

KINGSTON LOSES IN HARD GAME

Penalties and Quarter Ratings by Officials Let Albany Score in Last Minute of Play When Locals Were Leading 3-0.

Kingston High School football team lost to Albany High at Ridgefield Park, Albany, Saturday, nine to three in a game in which the local team is said to have been treated in a grossly unfair manner by the officials. Penalties amounting to 130 yards were charged against Coach Hall's team and Mr. Hall, after the game, said that this was the first game he had lost in two years, and that it was lost through the "rawest deal" that he had ever experienced.

The game would have ended 3-2 in favor of Kingston had not Albany in the last few minutes of play been handed the ball on a fumble which it is said was "stolen" from Kingston's ten yard line when the locals were about to go over Albany's goal line.

On the first play a forward pass by Albany hit Klein in the chest, bounding to the ground where he fell on the ball. The umpire ruled it a complete forward pass. On the next play Bött intercepted a forward pass which was literally "stolen" again. This put the ball on Kingston's ten yard line. A short forward pass scored the touchdown for Albany. This was the only forward pass of the series that was really completed.

During the whole game, this was practically Albany's only first downs. The rest of the game belonged to Kingston.

First Quarter—In the first quarter, notwithstanding penalties, Kingston advanced the ball to Albany's 20 yard line. Here McAndrew stood on Albany's 24 yard line and drop-kicked the pignick over the bar.

Albany's two points were made on a blocked punt which Barmann recovered, making it a safety for Kingston and giving Albany two points for a score.

The rest of the game was carried on in a similar fashion. Kingston was outwitted, but had Albany "on crutches" Saturday night, Barmann, the much touted fighting tackle, lasted three minutes.

SAUGERTIES TAKES BOTH BALL GAMES

Kingston lost the last two games of the season, both to Saugerties. Saturday afternoon at Athletic Field Kingston went down to defeat to the tune of 11 to 6 and again at Saugerties Sunday afternoon the paper town crowd came out on the long end of a 10 to 5 score. The game Saturday afternoon was witnessed by a large crowd of fans and there was plenty of excitement during the game, first one team being in the lead and then the other until the seventh inning when Saugerties pounded out three runs and kept the lead. During the early part of the game Saugerties played a loose game but their work tightened up after the fourth inning. Kingston added nothing but goose eggs.

Stoudt and Williams were on the mound for the locals but were unable to hold down the up-river boys. The score:

Again at Saugerties the paper town boys seemed able to locate the ball and walked out six hits for ten perfectly good runs while Kingston was able to net only five runs from six hits. Batteries were Stoudt and Smedes for Kingston and Beecher and Robins for Saugerties.

This ends the season for the Kingston team. Although they have lost a number of games they have put up an excellent line of ball, meeting some of the best teams in the locality and giving the local fans some mighty good baseball. The score of Sunday's game—R. H. E.

DODGERS STILL FULL OF FIGHT

Feet That Luck Must Come Their Way Some Time—Sunday's Home and Triple Play Will Go Down in Game's History.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Cleveland, O., Oct. 11.—The Indians are on their way to a world's championship. Ask any Cleveland if you don't believe it, for that is the way everybody in this man's town feels about the series between the tribe and the Dodgers.

Of course, the Indians may have to fight the Dodgers to the limit of many games—that much is admitted—but if Speaker's outfit can win today's game it will be all over but the shouting, from a Cleveland viewpoint.

The weather was fine and the Indians were itching to get into the sixth game of the series at League Park this afternoon. Speaker's team has started to hit the ball and the Dodgers' pitchers who turned back the heavy hitters for the tribe in Brooklyn have their work cut out from now on.

"It was only a question of time until we would start hitting as we can hit," said Speaker today, "and we're started."

Asked regarding the pitching, he said: "I've never figured that Brooklyn had as much as pitched. What do numbers mean anyway? You can't put one pitcher at a time and if that pitcher is right that's all you need. As far as I can see we've got just as strong a pitching staff as the Dodgers and we are all set now to match the best they can trot out."

Otto Miller, Dodger catcher, expressed the sentiment of the team, when he said:
"We were just naturally outlacked in Sunday's game. We can't get that sort of thing all the time. Thirteen hits and only one run! That sort of thing cannot happen again. Watch us step out and even things up today."

A Cleveland fan who has followed the tribe closely all season, made the remark today that expresses the prevailing sentiment here when he said:

"Those Indians are playing now as they played when at their best last summer and that kind of ball can't be beaten."

While looking forward to the sixth game today, all Cleveland buzzed with the aftermath of Sunday's game, a history maker in world's series competition.

A home run with the bases filled! A triple play unannounced! Up till yesterday most anybody would have told you that such things happen only in story books. But the fact remains that they did happen and the names of Elmer Smith, whose homer with the bases loaded, started the tribe on the way to victory and Billy Wambam, who astounded the big crowd by making an unassisted triple play, will go down in the annals of baseball history as heroes. There are a lot of people perhaps who will say that Smith and Wambam were just lucky, but everyone who saw the game knows different.

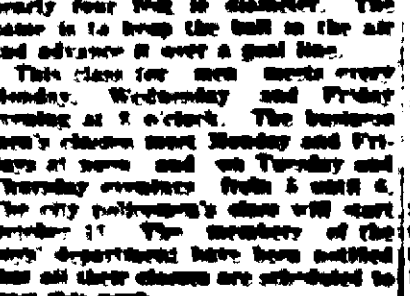

Jim Bagby, too, deserves a lot of credit. The big right hander pitched masterful ball and made a record himself when he slammed out a homer with two men on. No world series pitcher has ever accomplished that before.

"Y" GYM CLASSES GET UNDER WAY

This evening at 8 o'clock occurs the opening of the gymnasium classes for the young men at the Y. M. C. A. At noon the business men's class started out with over fifteen men in the class and every one feeling fine afterward. In addition to the young men's class which meets tonight is the employed boys' class at 7 o'clock.

A great deal of interest has been shown among the young men in their gym classes in the past. The work includes a good lively period of calisthenics that is guaranteed to bring out a sweat on anyone that follows the exercise. Following that is a short period of easy exercises on the horse, back or parallel bars that generally shows up a fellow's ability to handle himself properly. Then comes the games—indoor baseball, volley ball or basket ball, as the program may call for. One of the most interesting games that is played at the Y is the young fellows' cage ball, played with a large rubber ball, scored by a large basket.

The season is to begin the ball in the air and advance it over a goal line. This class for new recruits meets Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings at 8 o'clock. The business men's classes meet Monday and Friday at noon and on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 8 until 9. The city police men's class will start October 17. The members of that body department have been notified that all their classes are scheduled to start this week.

Just Like Me.
Mother and I went down a day after and ordered chocolate sundaes. When I finished I put up the dishes, and when I went to the counter, I noticed a small card and I noticed that I had done it. It didn't take me long to get out of the store.—Bachman
